

Says

What have we heard them say?
What can we imagine them saying?

Government officials mention the the need for policies to support sustainable farming practices.

farmers express frustration with unpredictable weather patterns affecting their crop yields.

Agricultural experts mention the importance of soil quality and irrigation methods in crop production.govern

Does

What behavior have we observed?
What can we imagine them doing?

Farmers adopt traditional and modern farming practices to maximize their crop production.

Experts conduct research,experiments,and field trials to develop new agricultural technologies.

Government officials draft and implement policies to regulate farming practices,ensure fair prices,and manage food distribution.

Thinks

What are their wants, needs, hopes, and dreams?
What other thoughts might influence their behavior?

Government officials are considering ways to balance economic growth with ecological conservation.

Farmers are concerned about providing for their families and earning a stable income from their crops.

Experts are thinking about innovative techniques to improve crop yield and reduce the environmental impact.

Feels

What are their fears, frustrations, and anxieties?
What other feelings might influence their behavior?

Farmers feel anxious about the uncertain future of Etheir harvests.

Government officials feel the pressure to make policies that support the nations food security.

Experts feel a sense of responsibility to find solutions that can benefit both formers and the environment.

